DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on January 16, 2007 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

1. Claims 1, 2, 3, 7, 8, and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Batton, U. S. Patent 4,164,822 in view of Modia et al., U. S. Patent 4,335,421 and Yamaguchi et al., US 4985231.
2. With respect to claim 1, Batton teaches an illuminated film viewer comprising: a portable plastic housing 24 formed with a viewing window 22 for receiving films 20 to be viewed. Batton also teaches a film grip assembly 26 mounted on the portable housing 24 adjacent the viewing window 22 for holding the films 20. In addition, Batton teaches a lamp 32 disposed beneath the viewing window 22 for illuminating the viewing window. The device is electrically powered by cigarette lighter adapted plug 34 or batteries 54, wherein the housing 24 is configured as a clipboard forming a portable film viewer by clips or grip assembly 26. Batton further teaches an automatic control circuit for switching the lamps 32 whenever an electronic photo-sensor 26 disposed adjacent to the film grip assembly, senses the conductive strip 30 of film 20 and turning off lamp 32 if removed.

3. Batton does not teach a handle attached to the housing.
4. Modia et al teaches a potable film viewer comprising a housing 70 formed with a viewing window 60 and channels 61A and 61B for receiving films. In addition In addition, Modia teaches a lamp 10 disposed beneath the viewing window 60 for illuminating the viewing window. The device is electrically powered by alternating current supplied through cord 13. Modia also teaches a carrying handle 70 to render the device transportable.
5. Yamaguchi et al. teaches an electronic device with a handle 20 on the base or lower cabinet CL, wherein the handle is concealable.
6. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time this invention was made to construct the portable device taught by Batton with a handle as taught by Modia to provide means for carrying the housing. In addition, it would have been obvious to construct the handle such that it is concealable as taught by Yamaguchi et al. to provide a means to not only carrier the viewer but to hind the handle from view when the viewer is in use.
7. With respect to claim 2, Batton clearly teaches DC power source.
8. With respect to claim 3, Modia teaches AC power source.

9. With respect to claim 7, Batton teaches the housing is made of a plastic material.

See column 2, lines 35-38.

10. With respect to claim 8, the film grip taught by Batton has a top plate 28 connected to the front of the housing.

Claims 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Batton in view of Modia and Yamaguchi et al., as applied to claim 8 above and in further view of Pokrinchak.

Pokrinchak teaches a film viewer comprising a housing 11 formed with a window 13 for receiving films to be viewed and a film grip assembly 37 mounted on the housing adjacent the viewing window for holding films. Pokrinchak also teaches a spring bias clip for holding the film in place in front of the window. Pokrinchak also teaches a lamp 19 disposed beneath the viewing window for illuminating the viewing window and an electrical power cord connected to a power source for providing electrical power to the lamp, wherein the housing is configured as a clipboard.

Pokrinchak also teaches the top plate includes at least bosses and the spring bias clip includes a plurality of balls 41 and springs 42 received the bosses 38 configured such that the biased are biased toward the housing. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time this invention was made to grip assembly construct the film holder taught by Batton, Modia, and Yamaguchi et al. with gripping means comprising the balls and springs as taught by Pokrinchak to provide a means to grip the film evenly over the length of the film.

Response to Arguments
